Special Asbestos Awareness Day Edition
February 2005

"Asbestos kills - but asbestos education can save lives." Senator Harry Reid, (NV), Sponsor of Senate Resolution 43 designating April 1st 2005 as "National Asbestos Awareness Day"

Asbestos Awareness Day is intended to be a vehicle to recognize accomplishments, remember a loved one, honor a loved one and strengthen ADAO's resolve to speak for victims of asbestos diseases. Join us for Asbestos Awareness Day, on April 1st as we reflectively remember the numerous victims affected by asbestos, and celebrate the strength of awareness with:

Presidents Message ~ Alan Reinstein

It's astonishing, unprecedented and inconceivable that in one year ADAO has gone from "Zero to Hero". Finally the victims of asbestos diseases have a voice that is being heard "on the hill", by the medical community and even by insurers and asbestos product manufacturers.

ASBESTOS AWARENESS DAY on April 1st is intended to be a vehicle to recognize accomplishments, remember a loved one, honor a loved one and strengthen ADAO's resolve to speak for victims of asbestos diseases. There are several ways to become involved with Asbestos Awareness Day. Please join us and express your support for ADAO.

Message from Jordan
Zevon

"One small step... One giant leap..." This is what the Asbestos Awareness Day means to all of us that have hurt and work to open the eyes of so many who are unaware of the dangers that surround themselves and their families. We believe awareness does not have to come from tragedy."

AAD Reflections

The history of asbestos and lives lost from disease will never be forgotten. "Reflections", an online publication, will review the tragic history of asbestos use; provide information about preventing exposure and early detection of asbestos related diseases, and present new research information. Articles from Dr Michael Harbut, Dr Arthur Frank, Paul Brodeur and a photographic essay from Bill Ravanese will be featured. Individuals, physicians, and unions around the world will be able to print "Reflections" as an invaluable medical and historical asbestos resource. Reflections will acknowledge asbestos victims and list global asbestos organizations and published on be available on 4/1/05.

The Asbestos Disease Awareness Organization "The Voice of the Victims"

In our efforts to save and protect lives, "Reflections" will importantly include:

- Common high-risk occupations
- Common early warning symptoms for asbestos related diseases
- Information about preventing exposure
- Pullout flyer for patient distribution
- New medical research
- The tragic history of asbestos diseases

Meet ADAO Logo Designer
Sean Shields designed our Asbestos Awareness Day Logo in loving memory of his father and Doug Larkin's father-in-law, Bill Shields, who died from mesothelioma. Green represents ADAO's goal of awareness about asbestos diseases and its symptoms and possible treatments for such diseases. Red signifies prevention and ADAO's efforts to have asbestos banned in this country. Yellow is for remembering all the victims who have died, losing their battle with horrible asbestos diseases. Purple is for uniting victims and activists from around the world to end asbestos exposure and diseases. Finally, the light blue ring in the middle represents ADAO, which brings all of these goals together.

April 1st - Wear a Blue Ribbon

In preparation for our Asbestos Awareness Day, please purchase a sky blue ribbon that can be pinned to your clothing. This will proudly signify your unity with all past, current and future asbestos victims throughout the world for asbestos policy reforms. Give to your family, friends, workgroup members, doctors, and everyone you meet on Friday. It also gives you the opportunity to tell the ones you don't know why you'd like them to wear it And in doing so, helps them become aware of the dangers of their past or future asbestos use. Email ADAO a digital photo of your family or work group wearing their blue ribbons for the April Newsletter. Smile big for the camera! We are making the difference, one by one, around the world!

TRUST FUND: ADAO believes the victim should have the freedom to exercise their constitutional right to a fair and speedy trial OR choose trust fund compensation, BUT Big Business will NOT support such an opt out clause, as it poses a huge risk to the manufacturers, insurers and reinsurers who want to limit their financial liability and responsibilities. Presently, ADAO is opposed to the "discussion draft" bill for the following reasons.

- Incorrect, outdated and incomplete Medical Criteria.
- Inordinate compensation delays and ineligibility for the victims.
- Inadequate funding for not only compensation, but also research, education, prevention and outreach.
- No opt out clause for the victim.

ACTIONS SPEAK LOUDER THAN WORDS ... Our fight for asbestos disease awareness and fair and balanced legislation needs YOU...yes all of you. Remember to email copies of your letters to: ACTION@AsbestosDiseaseAwareness.org

- Email your one page victim's story that you are willing to publish to ACTION@AsbestosDiseaseAwareness.org

GLOBAL NEWS: On April 28, 2005, The Asbestos Tribunal will meet in Sao Paulo, Brazil to debate asbestos issues. The tribunal is sponsored by the most prestigious University of Laws in the country (Universidade de Sao Paulo). This remarkable alliance between academics and the asbestos victims reinforcing their ties for a world free of asbestos.
